In 2014, we continued the development of our community partnerships and dedication to service toward the goal of helping provide a high quality of life and safe environment for our citizens. To that end, our hard-working GPPD employees, along with our involved stakeholders and dedicated volunteers, achieved a 9% decrease in the major crime categories. Since 2010, crime has decreased a total of 36% in Grand Prairie ranking us as the 11th safest city in Texas of the 33 cities with a population of over 100,000 residents. It is our goal to continue these efforts and partnerships toward a further crime decrease in 2015.

Last year, we graduated 31 police recruits from our GPPD Police Academy. These officers are now serving in our Patrol Division, doing a great job helping protect our community, solve problems, and prevent and deter crime.

Additional accomplishments in 2014 included several new community policing programs, such as our RADS (Rape Aggression Defense System) self-defense classes for female Grand Prairie residents and our Coffee with a Cop and Badges and Books programs, to name a few. Mentoring efforts with our youth continued through our Explorers program, Grand Prairie High School’s Legal Studies and Law Enforcement Pathway program, and our GPPD Youth Boxing program, which has produced eight Golden Gloves Champions and three national qualifiers in its first three years of existence. GPPD also introduced Summer College Intern and Detention Officer Intern programs, as well as a mentoring partnership at GPISD’s Young Men’s Leadership Academy.

GPPD received several departmental awards last year including our Citizens on Patrol program being selected as the Best Large Agency Program, for the second year in a row, for the State of Texas. GPPD offers many other volunteer opportunities (i.e. Victim Relief Ministries, GPPACC – Grand Prairie Police and Clergy Coalition, Citizen Police Academy Alumni, Volunteers in Policing, Grand Prairie Crime Commission), and these programs continue to improve our community collaboration and enhance our partnerships. Our Crime Prevention Unit was also selected as the 2014 Outstanding Crime Prevention Agency for medium size police departments in the State.

Moving forward, the Grand Prairie Police Department will continue to focus on always treating our citizens with dignity and respect, every interaction every day, in order to continue our high level of professional service. We are privileged to serve in such a supportive community and will work to always garner respect and legitimacy from our community members.

Please let me know if I can ever be of service.

Sincerely,

Chief Steve Dye
2014
